

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method of diagnosing feline odontoclastic resorptive lesions involving taking no more than seven radiographic views of teeth from a feline animal. At least one view is of each of the mandibular third premolar teeth.